CARD FROM LAURA KEENE.

To J. S. CLARKE, Lease of Winter Garden:— Sig.—I see by your advertisement in the Herato that you purpose playing Our American Coosin. No one in our prefession is better aware than yourself that in all honor, honesty and fair dealing the said play is my sole property.
I gave the author a large sum for it when it was an unseted manuscript. By my enterprise, industry and expenditure I made the play a great success. You then being one of the managers of the Arch struct theatre, Philadelphia determined to act the play. You obtained a copy of it, which was proven on trial to have been stolen from the author, Tom Taylor. I brought a suit against you then, and it was proved you had obtained all the original matter which had been written by my stage manager and myself from an employe

"Veteran," or "Rosedais," in all "The bad taste of seeking to deprive me of the use of the play is only equalled by your ever appearing in a comed which ought to have only a memory of shame and sorro for you and every member of your family. You cannot it has cloud which has lately fallen upon our whole professie by acts which set at naught all regard for principle as right.

LAURA KEENE.

I have never in my less than any angry personal controversies in the new papers.

Mus Laure Keene has the right she asserts to "Our Amer can Coust" the law affords her en instant remedy. As as has chosen, with a full knowledge that she can substantiate on such right, to appeal to the hoursable prejudices in favor as woman, justice to myself compels me to present the few plain facts in raphy!—It may not be known the her claim has been already fully discussed and desire on after a long investigation, by the United States Court the Kastern district of Pennsylvania, the result of whit adopted, sin cugni, as compliance with this supscatton, I paid, as joint proprietor of the Arob, gestion, I paid, as joint proprietor of the Arob, Street theatre, Philodelphis, a certain amount of money, then agreed upon between us, to Miss Keens, and for several years since I have played and many other actors and managers have produced Our American Cousin invarious leading cities of the Union, without any compliance down to the appearance of this eard.

With respect to the last paragraph of the lady's card, I may askely trust to the good feeling of the public to properly estmate the introduction of allusions as indedicate as they are ontirely foreign to the matter in question.
